

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY OF NOVA SCOTIA
RULES AND REGULATIONS
Last Approved: April 2019

1. MEMBERSHIP

Members of the Society will upon payment of the annual membership dues as applicable, have the rights and privileges of one of the following classifications of members of the Society:

1.1 Full Members

Unless otherwise provided for in these Rules and Regulations, a Full Member is considered:

- (a) a medical practitioner as defined by the Medical Act;
- (b) a member holding an academic position; or
- (c) a member holding an administrative position.

Full Members are entitled to all rights and privileges of the Society, including the right to hold office and vote.

1.2 Life Members

Any member of the Society in good standing for the immediately preceding ten (10) year period and who has attained the age of sixty-five (65) years is eligible for Life Membership. Nominations may be made by any Full Member of the Society. Life Membership may only be bestowed by unanimous approval of the members of the Board of Directors present and voting. No more than two (2) may be elected in any one year. Life Membership when approved will be conferred by the President of the Society at the time of the Annual General Meeting or any Special Meeting.

Life Members are entitled to all rights and privileges of the Society, including the right to hold office and vote, but have no obligation to pay annual membership dues.

1.3 Retired Members

A former Full Member who is fully retired from the practice of medicine and no longer holds a medical license is considered a Retired Member.

Retired Members are entitled to all the rights and privileges of the Society, including the right to hold office and vote.

Members still holding a medical license but retired from active practice are considered a Member on Leave and will pay the membership dues for that member classification.

1.4 Special Consideration: Members on Leave

A Full Member who is away from the active practice of medicine or an academic or administrative position, may be considered a Member on Leave. Reasons for being on leave include but are not limited to: parental leave, academic or occupational leave, medical leave, or those who are retired but still hold a medical license. Upon return to the active practice of medicine, full membership dues, which may be pro-rated for the remaining time in the fiscal year, must be paid.

Members on Leave are entitled to all the rights and privileges of the Society, including the right to hold office and vote.

MEMBERS WITH LIMITED PRIVILEGES

Members in the following categories are subject to the limitations set out below:

1.5 Medical Student Members

A Resident/Fellow Member who has trained at Dalhousie University or has been a member of Maritime Resident Doctors, matched with a residency or fellowship training program outside Nova Scotia, and intends to return to Nova Scotia to practice medicine is also considered a Non-Resident Member. Members can only be eligible for this classification of membership if they have held a Medical Student or Resident/Fellow membership with Doctors Nova Scotia prior to leaving the province.

Non-Resident Members are only eligible to:

- i. receive general membership communications; and
- ii. continue OMA Life and Disability Insurance, upon payment of applicable premiums.

1.8 Honourary Members

A Member of the Society or others who have distinguished themselves by their attainments in Medicine or Science or who have rendered extraordinary service to the Society can be admitted to this classification of members. Recommendations for election to Honourary Membership can only will come from the Board of Directors and be approved with a unanimous vote.

Honourary Members are entitled to all the rights and privileges of the Society, with the exception of sitting on committees, holding office and voting.

1.9 Special Consideration: Restricted Membership

A Member who is away from the active practice of medicine by virtue of disciplinary action can be considered for Restricted Membership. Upon return to the active practice of medicine, full membership dues, which may be pro-rated for the remaining time in the fiscal year, must be paid.

Restricted Members are entitled to all the rights and privileges of the Society, with the exception of sitting on committees, holding office and voting.

1.10 Special Consideration: Temporary Membership

There are two categories of Temporary Membership:

(a) Locum

A practitioner who provides temporary coverage in Nova Scotia for up to a maximum of six months is considered a Locum. Locums must hold a temporary license with the College.

Membership dues are waived for Locums whose term is for six weeks or less. Locum terms longer than six weeks will pay membership dues pro-rated at a full member rate.

(b) Emergency Member

A duly licensed physician that has been granted an 'temporary license' by the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Nova Scotia in the event of a pandemic or crisis is considered an Emergency Member. A physician with Emergency Membership is not required to pay annual membership dues.

Members holding a Temporary Membership are not entitled to any rights and privileges of the Society. The Society may obtain contact information for Emergency Members that can be used for communicating and sharing information relating to the pandemic or crisis.
